CAMPAIGN FINANCE BOARD

Electronic filing is required for most filers

Why is electronic filing required?

The requirement was enacted by the legislature as a means of enabling the Board to process increasing amounts of data more efficiently. Electronic filing eliminates the need for manual data entry of reports by Board staff and makes the data that enters Board systems more accurate.

What is electronic filing?

Electronic filing is not filing by fax or email. Those methods send the Board a picture of a report, not actual data. As a result, Board staff is still required to enter the data into Board systems. Electronic filing uses an application provided by the Board or by a third-party vendor to send the Board a file of data that can be placed directly into the Board's databases. The Board's reporting application, training, and technical support are free.

Waivers

All waivers to file by paper granted in prior years have been revoked. You may request a new waiver if your committee, fund, or party unit raises and spends less than $5,000 per calendar year. Waivers that were granted in the past for filers that did not have use of a computer compatible with the Board's Campaign Finance Reporter software are no longer valid as those filers may now use the application's successor, Campaign Finance Reporter Online, which is a web-based application. A waiver request form is included as the second page of this memo. If you wish to request a waiver, fill out the form and mail, fax, or scan and email it back to the Board.

If you have questions, contact the Board at cfb.reports@state.mn.us or 651-539-1180.
